CBI Families Help Establish Sherwood Montessori School and Much More

By Jim Jessee

Nelda and I recently interviewed Russell Shapiro and his daughter Clara at Sherwood Montessori, a brand-new charter school authorized by the Chico Unified School District. The school had been in session just 28 days at the time of our interview. Russell said that this was one of his first “days off,” although he asked us to meet him at the school, where we got a wonderful tour. Of course, while there he could not help but take care of a little business, too.

Russell has been working on this project nearly full-time for a solid year. Along the way he has developed an expertise in charter school law; California’s state education code and standards; public, teacher, and parent relations; negotiations with the CUSD (whom he highly praised for being strict but very helpful and positive throughout the process); and, lastly, some mighty fine grant and contract writing. The result is a charter school contract, detailed operating budget and curriculum, and other formal requirements that were approved in record time. Russell’s exceptional work is now being used as a model for others.

Upon approval of the school’s charter last December, Russell worked with fellow CBI congregant David Green to secure significant lines of credit. Russell also wrote and received a founding grant, which has launched the school very well. Sherwood Montessori achieved its three-year-enrollment goal of 100 immediately. With more than 250 applicants, Sherwood Montessori immediately achieved its three-year enrollment goal of 100 students. They had a lottery to decide who got to attend, and many were disappointed.

After graduating from the University of California at Santa Barbara, Russell and his wife Heather Fisher moved around the country chasing teaching jobs. Their first big move was to Maine where Ella Rose, now age 10, was born. The young family then moved onto Colorado, Las Vegas, and Minnesota, where their other three children were born (Clara Eve, age 7, and twins Lily Anne and Celeste Leah, age 5). When they moved to Chico four years ago, they enrolled Ella at the private Montessori School on the Esplanade. Heather eventually became director of the school during its last year of operation. During that year, several parents and teachers got together to discuss forming a charter school in Chico so more families would be able to take advantage of the Montessori option. The group asked Russell to write the charter. In September of 2009, Russell created a board of directors with himself as chair, and recruited two other CBI members, Haim (Harvey) Rappaport and David Green, along with four additional members, each of whom offered specific expertise necessary for this effort. Harvey and David continue on the board, although Mia Rappaport is in the Spanish Immersion Program at Rosedale Elementary, where the Naiman children also attend. The Green family have their children at Shasta Elementary. CBI members Kaitlyn Zeichick, Lucas Zukrow, and Noah Stone attend Sherwood, and other CBI families are following the developments closely, hopeful that their children will attend there someday.

Russell was the original driving force and chief janitor for Sherwood Montessori throughout this past year as a volunteer, along with a few key others. Heather named the school, wanting a name that suggested dark green colors, and alluded to Robin Hood and Sherwood Forest, which recreated for the famous Errol Flynn movie filmed in Bidwell Park, only a few blocks away. David Green leased the facility, a wonderful school at the Lutheran Church on Moss Avenue, and Heather researched, selected and purchased all the furniture and equipment, curriculum materials, library materials, and other supplies. Harvey and the rest of the board hired all the teachers and the school director. Many parents have helped to assemble the furniture, install equipment, continue to do custodial care, and landscape the playgrounds. The children maintain a wonderful winter vegetable garden and host a weekly Farmer's Market on Friday after school.

Russell essentially put his professional career as a Chico State professor of geology with a specialty in early Earth fossils on hold this past year to do all this work. He is eager to get back to his professional research and teaching, as he sees the school well underway with a professional staff and, now with students, lots of parent help, too.

Both in the past and the present, CBI members and families have been well represented as leaders, teachers, counselors, aides, and, most important, parent volunteers in our area schools, including the university. Several of our CBI families have chased the Spanish Immersion Program from Chapman, to Parkview, to Rosedale schools, helping out as volunteers and teacher aides through it all. The Open Classroom had many a CBI student and parent participant over the years.

This year CBI member Jeremy Miller is on the faculty of the new Chico Green High School, and CBI teens Charlette Naiman and Shaelyn Howard are students at the new Inspire Charter High School. Andrea Lerner Thompson is currently serving on the Chico Unified School District Board, helping steer our community through some of the worst times for education funding that we have known.

Our families have been and are well represented as leaders and as volunteers supporting innovative education on many fronts locally, nationally, and abroad. Many of our CBI parents and grandparents have volunteered in the public schools over the years to make sure their children's classmates had exposure to Jewish holidays and traditions, and that our children get the extra attention and care needed to succeed in their studies. Many other CBI members currently have or have retired from highly responsible positions in teaching, library sciences, and administration at every level of education in the North State through the years. We are proud the list is so long that we cannot mention all of them here.

In keeping with our core Jewish values on family, tikkun olam, and providing the greatest opportunities for education for our children and the children of others, we find our CBI members very actively involved in all the schools of our community and making significant contributions to better the education of all. Thank you, CBI families.

Television Donation Sought

Looking to do a mitzvah that will really help out CBI? The congregation seeks the donation of a flat screen TV that includes a DVD player. We would like to get a TV small enough to be safely transported around the building on a cart that we already have. Please contact Rabbi Danan at 342-6146 if you would like to make this donation.

From Our Rabbi: Coming to Services “For No Reason”

By Rabbi Dr. Julie Hilton Danan

The Year Mom Got Religion, a book by Lee Meyerhoff Hendler, is about “One Woman’s Midlife Journey Into Judaism.” Hendler came from a prominent Jewish family that belonged to a large temple. Jewish community was a priority; spirituality was not. She describes one of the most awkward moments of her journey as the first time she went to Shabbat services, “for no reason.” Of course, she always went when there was an official “reason” like the High Holy Days or a bar or bat mitzvah. But just to go on an ordinary Shabbat when there was “no reason” but praying and learning Torah? It made her feel very exposed, wondering what the “regulars” would think of her and whether her own family and peers would think she was becoming too religious. Once she got past the awkwardness, Jewish spiritual practice eventually became central to her life.

I would like to suggest that you, too, consider coming to CBI Shabbat services “for no reason.” It doesn’t have to be a holiday, life-cycle event, or even a special speaker! Our songs, discussion, fellowship, special programs, shared meals, and sense of community are all compelling reasons to attend, any Shabbat of the year. But the best reason to come to services is to nourish your soul through the ancient and rewarding spiritual practice of davening (prayer).

In a wonderful new book, Making Prayer Real, Rabbi Mike Comins analyzes “why prayer is difficult and what to do about it.” He points out that Orthodox synagogues and Christian evangelical megachurches see eight out of 10 members participating every Sabbath, but “if a liberal synagogue draws 10, maybe 20 percent of its members with any kind of regularity, it is considered a success.” We tend to go only when there is a “reason.” Too many things put us off.

Comins found that years after getting involved with wilderness programs, meditation, tai chi, and Jewish mysticism, he began to tune into the treasures of traditional Jewish prayer. He writes, “For years I attended services, when I attended... because I liked the music, identified with the community, enjoyed seeing friends, and relished a good sermon and Torah discussion.... Now my central goal is to slow down, make some space for God, listen, and respond.... My prayer life changed when I took ownership of it and no longer left my heart’s expression in the hands of rabbis, cantors, the Siddur, the building architect, the community, or whether a baby happens to be crying in the sanctuary today.” His book is devoted to helping liberal, non-Orthodox Jews find real spirituality and meaning in the prayer experience. I would like to start a group to read and discuss this important book. Contact me if you are interested.

At the same time, please know that I and our Ritual Committee want to create service experiences that are relevant and appealing to all our congregants. Our non-denominational community has congregants from many different backgrounds, so it can be challenging to meet everyone’s needs. But we are always seeking creative ways to make our services more welcoming, engaging, and inclusive. Our Ritual Committee, chaired by Keren Carter, is developing a survey on holiday and Shabbat services. Of course, you can always come to me or Keren with your concerns and ideas. We hope to see you at services on holidays and special occasions...but also on regular Shabbats, “for no reason,” other than the priceless ones of being with your community, learning Torah, praying, and taking time out for your inner life, your soul.

Jessica Leitner to Speak on “Israel Advocacy at Chico State”

On November 19 at our 7:30 p.m. service, Jessica Leitner, Chico State student, Hillel intern, and daughter of CBI members Michael and Sarah Leitner, will be our featured Shabbat speaker, addressing the topic, “Israel Advocacy at Chico State.” She will explain her role as a CAMERA campus fellow representative this year, which includes Israel advocacy at Chico State. Jessica was chosen as one of a handful of outstanding student leaders around the country to serve in this role.

The mission of CAMERA, the Committee for Accuracy in Middle East Reporting in America, is “to serve as a media-monitoring, research, and membership organization devoted to promoting accurate and balanced coverage of Israel and the Middle East. CAMERA fosters rigorous reporting, while educating news consumers about Middle East issues and the role of the media.” CAMERA states: “Since public opinion ultimately shapes public policy, distorted news coverage that misleads the public can be harmful to sound policymaking. CAMERA is a non-partisan organization and takes no position with regard to American or Israeli political issues or with regard to ultimate solutions to the Arab-Israeli conflict.”

Young People Leading Two November Services

Our Mishpachah Shabbats resume on the first Fridays of the month, beginning on November 5. Tot Shabbat is at 5:30 p.m. for our youngest children and their families. Everyone else should arrive at 6 p.m. for a Shabbat dinner, which will be prepared by the Rappaports and the Millers. There is no set cost for dinner; donations of any amount may be made to our Mispachah Shabbat fund, if you are able. After dinner (approximately 7 p.m.) students will help to lead a family service for all ages.

On Friday, November 12, at 7:30 p.m., Kaitlyn and Joy Zeichick will join Rabbi Danan in leading the Kabbalat Shabbat service.

Please come to services, support our young people, and kvell as we listen to them lead.

Sisterhood/Haverot News

By Donna Greenberg

Isn't this a lovely time of the year, with the leaves turning spectacular colors and the weather cooling to more comfortable temperatures?

I would like to offer thanks to those ladies who helped with our annual potluck/kickoff in the sukkah. Thank you to Loretta Steinke for helping me with the set-up—lugging long tables, placing tablecloths on the tables, setting out candles, etc. To Pam Dakof for ordering and bringing the coffee, thank you. Thank you as well to Rabbi Julie for the traditional Sukkot blessings as well as offering a creative and meaningful art project that brought the group together. It was a blessing to honor those whose lives have touched us in some way. It was a pleasure to host some women from the Celebration of Abraham, who thoroughly enjoyed themselves. I could not have done all of this myself!

The Sisterhood/Haverot's next program is "Women's Issues," which will take place on Sunday, November 14 from 2–4 p.m. at the home of Sue Mintzes. An invitation will be sent via e-mail and regular mail for those without e-mail. As this is a new event for us, I hope that women of all ages will attend. This will be an informal, informative, fun, and non-threatening program discussing three main issues: education, families, and women's health. Open forums with facilitators will be used to keep us on track. I hope many of you will attend and offer your "expert" ideas and opinions on these topics. As an added incentive—CHOCOLATE, FRUIT, AND DRINKS will be offered for your enjoyment.

If you have not returned your Sisterhood/Haverot membership applications, please do so as soon as possible so that the roster can be finalized and sent out. If finances are an issue, send in the application with whatever amount is comfortable for you. No one will be turned away. The monies you send help support programs for not only Sisterhood/Haverot members, but also our CBI family as well as local community groups. Remember, our goal is to meet the needs of all of our women, where one can discuss women's issues and find moral support, friendship, laughter, food, and drink throughout the year.

Sisterhood/Haverot is continuing our tradition of sponsoring the Friday night onegs on the second Friday of each month, with occasional exceptions. All I ask is for members to help each month with set-up, food preparation, and clean up. You can do this as a team or by yourself, and you will be reimbursed up to $30. Please volunteer when you can! This is a wonderful mitzvah!

Feel free to call me at 891-6439 or e-mail at drg@mv.mv.com if you have any questions, comments, or concerns, or are willing to help. I am looking forward to a great year!

Congregation Beth Israel

Congregation Beth Israel is an independent, egalitarian Jewish community whose roots date back a century. The synagogue is both nondenominational and unaffiliated. Our guiding principle is K'lal Yisrael, the unity of the Jewish people. True to that spirit, CBI embraces a diverse membership of Jews from all backgrounds as well as interfaith couples and those exploring Judaism. We serve nearly 100 families in the greater Chico area with a wide range of programs for toddlers, tweens, teens, adults, and seniors. Our Religious School is very strong, and our Sisterhood is very active. Services are held Friday nights at 7:30 p.m. with an early family service the first Friday of the month, and Saturday mornings at 10 a.m. We also hold services on all major Jewish holidays.

The ideal to which we strive is Mordecai Kaplan’s concept of the “synagogue center,” in which a congregation serves both as a house of worship and as a community center. Rabbi Julie Hilton Danan provides the inspirational leadership for our Jewish values: study, Torah; worship and practice, Avodah; social action, Tikkun Olam; acts of kindness, Gemilut Hasadim; and connection with the Jewish People, Am Yisrael.
